Now.

LADOT had informed DWP back in Sep 09 about the upcoming paving so they could get ready. LADOT informed them in Nov 09 that they have paved so they could raise the manholes to the new finished surface elevation. LADOT was hoping that they would be done in Nov / Dec 09. Unfortunately they could not schedule their work until January 2010. So they are now starting in February. But we should keep an eye on them, of course.

Terrific...I know it's too much to ask, but do they have a schedule for that?

Final Report:

- 1) DWP is now raising the manholes to bring them to the level of the current paved street.
- 2) DWP will then repair / pave the areas around the raised manholes.
- 3) There will be no holes, dips, bumps left in the street. DWP will raise the manholes to the level of the current paved street and repair / pave the areas around the raised manholes.

I'm sure you both heard that we had a power failure in our building and when the DWP came out to fix the problem they discovered that the manhole on Sepulveda had been paved over. They then had to cut away the asphalt, which they piled up and left on the sidewalk..and left an unfinished hole in the street (the one I saw is in front of Bar Melody)...but I hear reports there are others. I had asked to get the asphalt disposed of (thank you DWP) but the street repair...I'm sure must be in the hands of the City.

Please let me know if you can help me.
